Wright House Presents
National Black HIV / AIDS
Awareness Day

Austin - The National Black HIV / AIDS Awareness & Information Day will be observed in Austin on Friday, February 9, with a free lunch and free confidential HIV testing hosted at Mitchie's Fine Black Art Gallery located at 6406 North IH 35 (Lincoln Village Shopping Center). The program will begin at 11:30am with a discussion of HIV/AIDS and the high incidence of infection among African Americans.

The observance marks an opportunity to spread awareness of the devastating and disproportionate effects AIDS is having in the African American community. Everyone of any ethnicity seeking information about the disease or wanting to be tested is welcome to the event. Testing is totally free, anonymous and confidential and is conducted through The Austin / Travis County Health and Human Services Department.

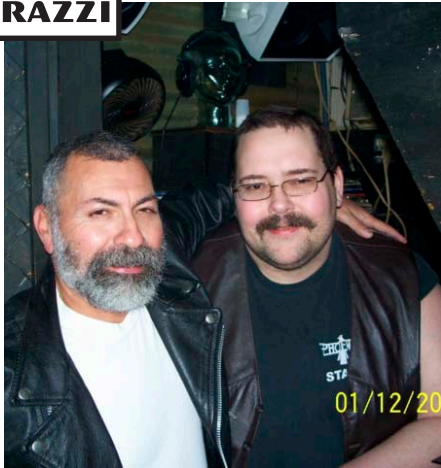

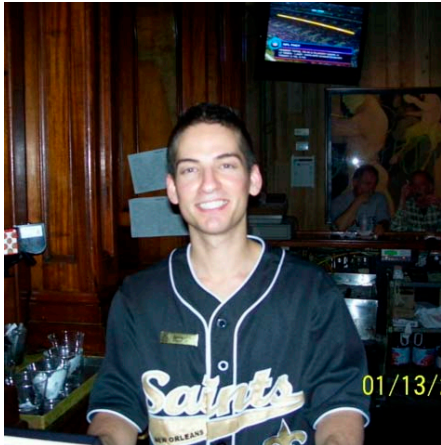

Featured speaker at this event will be Dr. Debbie Hagins. Dr. Hagins is a Clinical Director of Outpatient Services for Georgia's Coastal Health District and is also an ordained Pentecostal Minister. She is in high demand as a speaker on HIV / AIDS, cultural sensitivity and competency, healthcare disparity, and women's health issues. Her clinic serves some 850 persons living with HIV / AIDS annually. Three fourths of her patients are African American with more than half living in poverty.

According to The Wright House Wellness Center, sponsor of the event, there are between 500 and 1000 Austinites who are HIV positive without knowing their status. Not only are they not receiving proper medical attention, but also they are likely to be spreading the infection. An estimated 20,000 African Americans still become infected every year, and many are young people under the age of 25. African Americans are among the hardest hit populations in the U.S. In 2005 alone, African Americans accounted for nearly one third of all new HIV diagnoses in the State and about one third of AIDS deaths to date.

African American men who have sex with other men (MSM) are especially hit harder than other minorities. Recent data shows declines in almost every minority except African American MSM. African American Women, account for 35% of all HIV diagnoses in 2005 for the State and nationally 43%, regardless of their sexual orientation. Texas ranks number five among the states with African Americans with AIDS. The disease is the third leading cause of death for African Americans in the 35-44-age range.

The Wright House Wellness Center provides services for over 1,000 persons living with HIV/AIDS, cancer and hepatitis C in the Austin area. Founded in 1988, the agency provides little to no-cost physical and emotional support services, peer education and support, and community education. The Wright House philosophy is to help people living with chronic illnesses make healthier lifestyle choices and employ integrated wellness therapies to delay the progression of the illness. Education and community outreach are available to those at risk for disease.
