by so many. A while back, you may recall that this stud, namely Lance, was named Mr. Butt Beautiful of 2007. Well, he still fits this description – always will – but we have to move on, and in 2008, there is someone else who needs to carry this excellent title. Research has lead a team of individuals to explore the community not only here in Red Stick but also in Lafayette and New Orleans. From the list of candidates, it was narrowed down to less than a half dozen individuals, and finally a winner was chosen.

Mr. Butt Beautiful 2008 is none other than the gorgeous and studly king of the Lafayette night scene, Macky, who just happens to be one of the nicest guys around. As soon as I can, I'll get back over to Lafayette and do a complete interview with him and let you know all about him. If you wonder why this choice was made, just think back to this year's Royal Order of Unicorn bal masque production. Who could forget the bulging red briefs that fit so beautifully around those bulging family jewels and fantastic derriere. Congratulations, Macky, on being named Mr. Butt Beautiful 2008. Now this youthful stud is definitely a great example of a sparkling sapphire, and, as most of you know I love anything that is blue and sparkles, so you know where my vote was cast.

Next time, I'll tell you all about a new category of male excellence as I announce Mr. Dreamboat 2008. Looking over all the candidates for this title has just really got me excited, so excited that I have to take a break and "relax." And with this said, I will bid you all adieu until next time.
